ETV To Transmit

The Metropolitan Omaha Educational Broadcasting Association (MOEBA), broadcasting from the University of Omaha studios on UHF Channel 26, KYNE-TV, plans to put its first program on the air either October 18 or 25.

The date of the first broadcast depends on how long it will take to complete the 409 foot tower. The crew will begin erecting the tower in the faculty parking lot south of the Applied Arts building, the day after the steel arrives. The tower should be completed two weeks later, if the weather permits. The faculty will then be able to use the parking lot again.

Channel 26 will broadcast to 78,000 pupils in the Omaha area. Its signal will carry to towns in a 15-20 mile circle of the tower.

Funds Provided

Financial support for Channel 26 comes from several sources. Public school members of MOEBA will pay up to $2.00 per pupil to support the operation. Other members of the association will pay $50.00. The Nebraska Educational Television Commission will provide funds to be matched by the federal government for purchasing and installing the transmitter and tower and for operating the transmitter. All other costs will be met by MOEBA.

All of the facilities of Channel 26 will be located on the O.U. campus; the tower, studios and cameras will be rented to MOEBA.

Seven teachers will produce 19 1/4 hours of kindergarten through eighth grade class work here each week.

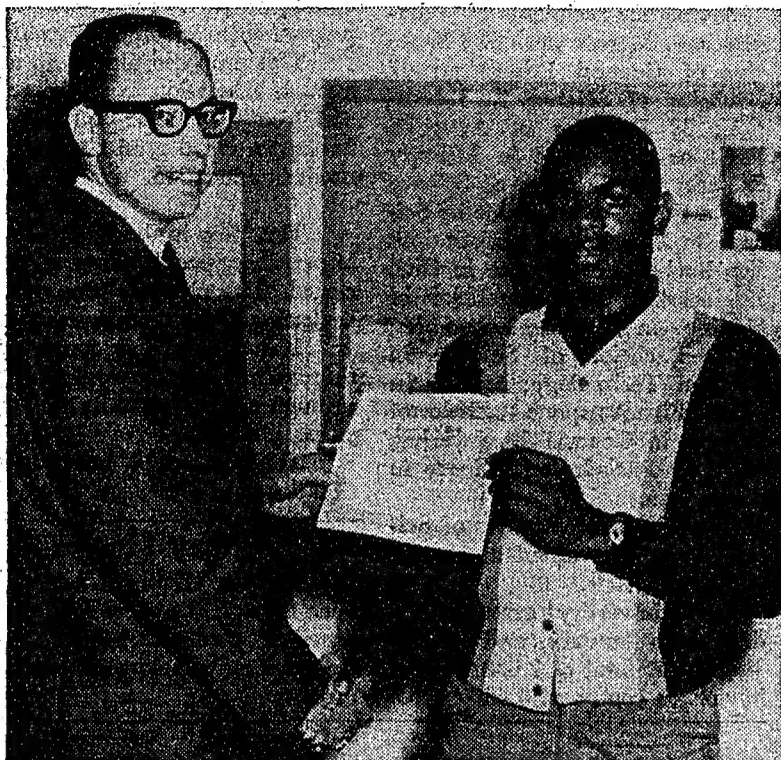

First UHF Channel

Channel 26 is the first UHF (Ultra High Frequency) installation in this part of the country. Four of these channels have been assigned to Omaha by the Federal Communications Commission. The UHF channels are numbered 14 through 83, beginning where the VHF (Very High Frequency) channels, 2 through 13, end.

All television sets manufactured and sold after May, 1964 can receive both frequencies. The older sets must be equipped with a converter, costing between $30.00 and $45.00, before they can receive UHF broadcasts.

Managers Named

Paul Borge, director of radio and television at OU, has been appointed manager of Channel 26. Leon Benschoter has been named program director and William Newens, promotion and traffic manager. The new program director comes from KMTV and has experience in both commercial and education-

The GATEWAY, in conjunction with radio station KOWH and the Center Bank today inaugurates a new weekly feature. Students are invited to vote for their choice of outstanding football player of the week.

A ballot will appear weekly in the GATEWAY for students to use in indicating their choices. The ballot box will be placed at the information desk on the first floor of the Student Center.

World Affairs Topics Begin

Such varied topics as Europe, Vietnam and the space race are three of the areas to be explored this fall by the Institute of World Affairs.

The institute begins its 20th annual series of lectures at OU on October 5. The overall theme of the 20th series of six lectures is "The Continuing Challenge of a Changing World."

First lecturer will be William H. Stringer, London Bureau Chief of the Christian Science Monitor. The American journalist will present his views on "Europe's Changing Pattern" on Tuesday, October 5, at 8:15 in the University Auditorium.

On the following Monday night, October 11, the topic for discussion will be "Challenge and Change in Latin America." The Honorable Teodoro Moscoso, former U.S. administrator and ambassador, will be guest speaker.

University students will be admitted by showing their activity cards at the door of the Auditorium. Non-students may purchase series memberships at $5 each. This enables the holder and a guest to attend each of the six lectures. No single admissions will be sold. Series membership tickets are available in the University Bookstore and the College of Adult Education, room 182, Administration Building.

Carpet Covers Busiest Routes

One of the Physical Plant Department's summer projects was the installation of experimental carpeting. The carpeting was installed in strategic spots, where it will be wear-tested by countless shuffling feet.

Some of the key points are the east entrance to the Applied Arts Building, the Eppley Library and Room 389 in the Administration Building.

The carpeting could not be classed as inexpensive... over ten dollars per square yard. However, the carpeting will, supposedly, greatly reduce cleaning costs. Over a long run, this should constitute a saving large enough to justify the initial cost. Approximately 350 square yards of the carpeting has been installed, at cost of about $3,600 dollars.

Physical Plant Superintendent, Robert Krenzer, says that his department will keep the experimental carpeting under careful study for the next year, watching for wear and keeping records of the cost of upkeep. If the carpeting proves itself, more may be installed.

New Campus Maps Lead Lost Students

Upperclassmen, notice the new signs in front of almost every building on campus? They weren't here last year, but this year, with the help of Audio Visual and Building and Grounds Departments, new freshmen have a large-size guide to where they are and where they want to go.

8500 Enrolled For Classes

By Linda Priesman

President Leland Traywick this week announced an incomplete list of registration figures.

As of Monday Omaha University's enrollment stood at 8,490. This, however, does not include late registrants, special courses for Omaha area school teachers and total night school enrollment.

Official Notices

Any student interested in playing intramural football should register in room 250 in the Milo Bail Student Center. The first game is scheduled for Monday afternoon, September 27.

All freshmen interested in running for "Typical Freshman" must pick up petitions today and Monday, September 27. Petitions for class offices, freshman student council, and Homecoming Queen must be checked out a week from today, October 1. Details on page four.

Total on-campus credit hours hit 83,002 as compared with 78,171 last year at this time. OU's chief executive also noted that between 80 and 90 per cent of last year's freshmen returned for their sophomore year in comparison with the last percentage hitting 70.

Parking!

In an interview Tuesday morning, Dr. Traywick voiced concern over the numerous complaints about the parking situation. "This is something the University is going to have to deal with during this school year," the President commented.

With 1,300 metered parking spaces and over 6,000 parking permits on students' cars, a definite problem exists. People have suggested building a multi-level parking garage; but this seems impractical, according to Dr. Traywick. "We haven't even paid for our present parking lots," he added.

Another frequent suggestion is running a shuttle bus from Ak-Sar-Ben so students could park their cars there. But this also poses problems. With the races over, there aren't many times Ak-Sar-Ben's lots are full; but what about the occasional times when these lots won't be available to OU students?

Right now the only logical solution seems to be avoidance. Don't drive to school unless it's absolutely necessary; form carpools or ride the bus. If you live within walking distance, then walk.

In other news, President Traywick spoke to over 500 secondary and elementary educators and administrators from the state Tuesday evening. He talked on "Federalization of Education."

Yesterday noon Dr. Traywick spoke on Educational Growth and Development to the Council Bluffs Rotary Club.

Tomorrow the President will be cheering the football team on to victory in De Kalb, Ill. Remember, KOWH will broadcast the game. Radio dial setting is 94.1 m.c. on the FM set. Kickoff time is 12:30 p.m. Omaha time.

Poli Sci Dept. Hosts Author

The political science department of the University was host to Dr. Charles R. Adrian yesterday at a luncheon in dining room A of the Milo Bail student center.

Dr. Adrian is Professor of Political Science and Director of the Institute for Community Development and Service at Michigan State University.

He is the author of "A Study in the Political Process", "State and Local Government", and "Governing Urban America", which is presently being used as the text in the Political Science course Government of American Cities at the University.

Dr. Adrian is in Omaha as an adviser and consultant on the Omaha City Charter.

Professor Adrian taught at Wayne State University for five years, spent a year at the University of Copenhagen on a grant before joining the University of Michigan State faculty.

He has served in the capacity of Administrative Assistant to G. Mennen Williams former Governor of Michigan, as a member of the Governor's Advisory Committee on State Reorganization, as Chairman of the Michigan Study Commission on Metropolitan Area Problems, in addition to many other community posts.

I would like to nominate.....

Theater Gets New Sound Parking Is Problem!

Dr. Edwin L. Clark, Director of the University Theater, has announced the installation of a new sound system in the University Theater Auditorium which will provide better sound reproduction for upcoming theater presentations.

The new system, designed to provide better amplification to the listening audience, was custom-made to fit the special specifications of the O.U. auditorium he added.

At an installation cost of $3,000, the sound system will provide everything needed to give the audience high quality sound. Directional sound will provide the listener with sound effects created in any area of the theater. This will produce a stereo effect within the auditorium.

A console, placed in the auditorium light booth, will contain the equipment necessary to operate the various sounds and sound effects desired. Included in the installation are two new tape recorders, two amplifiers, and two turn tables.

Dr. Clark pointed out that, in previous years, the University Theater had to rent sound equipment. On a single production, this rental fee, sometimes, ran as high as several hundred dollars. With the new equipment, the theater will offset their investment by ending these high rental costs.

1500 New Students Introduced to O.U.

Close to 1,500 students attended the annual New Student Day Sept. 18. The day-long affair began at 9:00 a.m. and ended at 5:15 p.m.

University President, Leland Traywick, told the new students in a speech that college is an individual effort. He urged them to set their goals and strive to meet them. He stressed the importance of a college degree to their future earning power.

Twenty-three campus groups were represented by speakers in five class sections. Student Council President Doug Slaughter felt that these class sections were the most important part of the day. "These groups try to portray a cross-section of what Omaha University has to offer. An increase in school spirit and a more active enrollment are the goals of New Student Day," Slaughter said.

Slaughter felt the day went very well. He said about 800 more students attended the afternoon dance than in previous years.

The first week of school presented 1,500 new freshmen to the University, and, once again, a shortage of parking spaces. The practice field, west of the field-house, was not opened to parking, as scheduled, and the parking problem remains unsolved.

Free parking at the First Christian Church is available on the west side only, according to Dean of Students Donald Pfisterer. The east side of the church is off limits to students.

Students are also permitted to park in Elmwood Park, unless a "no parking" sign prohibits. Cars have been ticketed for parking too close to the corner, on the grass or on both sides of a one-way street.

The opening day of school kept campus police busy during the early morning and afternoon rush period. Monday they issued over 60 parking tickets.

To ease the parking problem, Dean Don Pfisterer suggested that students double-up in cars to the campus.

New Procedures Ease Registration

The registration process which was held in the Gene Eppley Library for the first time went a great deal smoother than usual, said Virgil Sharpe, the Registrar.

"Because we were able to handle far more people with less difficulty than in the past," he said, "the trend will be to register students where there is more room and light." Separate areas for counseling and registration will be maintained in the future, he added.

Night Courses Will Total 260

The University of Omaha will again be "the busiest night spot in town" with its 260 credit courses scheduled by the College of Adult Education. The courses which cover 27 areas for graduates and undergraduates will meet from 7 to 9:40 p.m. with a few exceptions. Some English and history classes are scheduled for Saturday morning, along with an engineering class which will be televised over KMTV.

Non-credit courses in Community Service Courses and the Technical Institute, will be offered in addition to the credit courses.

Monday, September 27 (prior to 6:30 p.m.) is the last day that classes may be added.

563 Graduate New Training Plans Concern Ed. Dept.

The University of Omaha conferred 563 degrees August 31. This was the largest summer graduating class in the 56-year history of the University. There was no formal Commencement ceremony.

Among the recipients of undergraduate degrees were 382 Bachelor of General Education; 47 Bachelor of Science in Education; 29 Bachelor of Arts; 26 Bachelor of Science in Military Science; ten Bachelor of Science in Nursing; five Bachelor of Science in Business Administration; five Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering; three Bachelor of Science in Home Economics; three Bachelor of Science in Medical Technology; one Bachelor of Fine Arts; one Bachelor of Science in General Engineering, and one Bachelor of Science in Journalism.

There were 43 Master of Science degrees awarded and seven Master of Arts.

The University granted 571 degrees in January, and 904 on June 7. A total of 2,038 degrees have been conferred during 1965.

The Nebraska Association of Student Teaching is holding a meeting in Hastings, September 25, for all cooperating teachers and university advisors who work with student teachers.

Two major projects for training student teachers will be proposed and discussed at this meeting. The plan for "Drive-in Conferences for Cooperating Teachers" will attempt to secure the cooperation of experienced persons to work with inexperienced people to prepare them in preparing student teachers.

This proposed plan is an attempt by the Nebraska State Department of Education to participate in Title V of the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act. Under this act the federal government has apportioned grants to the state to be used in providing for the needs in education.

"Bug in Ear"

The "Bug in the Ear" plan, an example of technology being used in preparing people working in teacher-like situations will also be discussed. This plan has been used by professional counselors in training beginning counselors in counseling situations.

The professional counselor would be stationed behind a see-through mirror, and would transmit advice to the beginning counselor through a small radio in his ear, while the beginning counselor is advising his client.

This method is being investigated to use in student teaching situations.

Library Hours

The Gene Eppley Library is open from 7:30 a.m. to 9:45 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. on Saturdays.

Hear the Northern Illinois-Omaha U. game tomorrow at 12:15 on KOWH-FM . . . 94.1 on the dial.

Tidbits From The Butcher Shop

When you trim a team that is carrying some 67 of its players on full ride scholarships, you can't help but appreciate the great job that the Omaha coaching staff is doing with its limited assistance, part-time jobs, scrimping and scraping, and just plain honesty. It's a great feeling to be a winner when you have scrapped to get there the hard way.

You may or may not realize it, but Saturday night against Idaho State in the dying moments a new first was reached in Omaha football history. With the ball and the Indians on the State 12 yard line, quarterback Marlin Briscoe had to ask the 5,481 fans to quiet down so that he could call signals. That had never happened at an OU football game. The incident speaks for itself.

Does anybody doubt now that our Greeks support the team? Not so after Saturday night when they rescheduled many of their important functions in order to get pledges and actives alike to the game on time. Good work, Greeks, we need the students at the games and you can show the way.

October 9th will find Bradley meeting OU at the stadium in the second night game at home. It will be "Gateway Football Night" and every student will have a chance to win valuable merchandise prizes as well as have some fun. Details will be announced soon.

Omaha U future opponents had better pray for wet fields every night. Do you realize the raw explosive power of this team from any spot on the field?

There were very few dissenters in the crowd that still say night football is not the answer. Had the weather been at all decent, a crowd of over 10,000 would have been a cinch. We have one more chance to prove a point and we hope old man weather will try to be a little more accommodating to all concerned.

Funniest sight of the night was 258 pound tackle Bill Jansen getting creamed on a sweep by an Idaho State blocker. When the Bengal bench began jeering Bill, he immediately pointed to the scoreboard which read Omaha 26, Idaho State 14. The bench quit laughing. . . Jansen walked back to his huddle with more than a little smirk on his cherubic little face.

Big Jimmy Jones has come to play ball. There is no doubt in the butcher shop tonight that the Bengal game was Jim's greatest effort. His leaping pass receptions and blocking had press box personnel gasping. This young man will be a great one.

And talk about great games. . . All-American Gerry Allen had his best night since last year's Bradley game. Allen looked the star with his twisting, leaping runs on the wet field. What will he do on a fast track? Scrambler Marlin Briscoe looked like a pro out there. His mixing of plays was excellent and he used a new weapon, Rick Davis, to pull the game out of the fire. Briscoe's rollout sprints will keep enemy defenses in terror all year. He is better right now than 5 quarterbacks in the Big Eight.

Omaha's proud defense, especially the line, looked good for an opener. Rookies Ed Jackson and 250 pound Carl Goodman got their baptism and lived through it. Jackson and Harlan Aden both came through with crucial fumble recoveries.

CIC champ Washburn, the team that last year ended Omaha's two year stranglehold on conference laurels, is having its troubles. The Blues got trounced by Kearney, 40-14, last week and earlier in the week lost three of its four backfield starters through injuries, ineligibility and baseball contracts. This might well put Omaha in the driver's seat as far as the CIC goes. . . but watch Fort Hays and Pittsburg.

Kearney's stomping of Washburn will most likely bring great clamoring from people that Kearney is too tough for the CIC. Kearney said two years ago that its program was not up to CIC standards and therefore they could not join the loop. It's about time Kearney quit playing games with its "play for fun" brothers in the Nebraska College Conference and take on some real competition. Omaha loses Idaho State and Northern Illinois off its schedule and Kearney would be an ideal addition. That might settle the issue of which small college plays the best football in the state.

Many thanks to the Inter-Pep girls who donated their time to help sell tickets at the Crossroads last week. The Indians made many friends because of the pretty gals who answered their questions and sold tickets. It's nice to see gals who joined organizations to work, not just to use it on a campaign poster.

Omaha head coach Al Caniglia when asked if he would trade Briscoe for Nebraska quarterback Bob Churchich. . . "I'd like to have them both." On having two good quarterbacks. . . "A coach who runs from the T formation is crazy to try and platoon quarterbacks, stick with your best man."

OU official when asked why lights can't be erected on the campus field. . . "Those tall towers are not in keeping with the beauty and landscape. . . the nearby residents would scream."

Noticed in construction on campus. . . A 409 foot television tower for channel 26.

And finally. . . An OU student after seeing the cars of 5,481 fans in Rosenblatt Stadium's parking lot Saturday night. . . "I knew there must be something going on in there." . . O Brother!

It should be noted that the fraternity and sorority pledge parties were rescheduled to allow the actives and pledges to attend Saturday night's game. Just a brief thanks to the heads of those organizations for their fine "school spirit." Good work Greeks, we need the students at the games and you can show the way. (And here's another thanks—to our editor—for all the space she gave us this week.)

Track coach Lloyd Cardwell has issued a call for cross-country runners—with or without experience. Cardwell has built this ruggedly individual sport to surprising heights over the past four years. So if you're looking for hours of hard work with little reward except the satisfaction of knowing a job's been well done—then this may be your niche. Anyone interested in running should report to Cardwell at the Athletic Department offices in the fieldhouse.

OU's President To Be Installed

Dr. Leland E. Traywick will be inaugurated as eighth president of the University of Omaha Friday, October 15.

Inauguration ceremonies, open to the public, will be at 2 p.m. in the University Stadium. A reception will follow in the Milo Bail Student Center.

Huskie Aerials Feared, Idaho State Falls, 26-14

Magical Marlin Leads Way

by Mike Moran

Omaha's explosive Indians, off to their best start in three years, will get a chance to test the air raid drills tomorrow afternoon at 12:30 as Northern Illinois plays host to OU at DeKalb.

The pass-happy Huskies threw 41 aerials and completed 21 of them last week in trimming Whitewater (Wisc.) State, 28-14 at DeKalb. It was the season opener for quarterback Ron Christian and his NIU stablemates.

The contest appears ready to follow the usual Omaha-Northern pattern. Since the series was resumed three years ago, Northern has taken 13-7 and 18-7 triumphs behind the talented George Bork. Last year, Omaha smacked the Huskies, 26-20, at home with a strong ground attack that offset the NIU bombing.

Al Confident

OU head coach Al Caniglia appeared confident that Omaha will handle the Huskie air game. "You have to give them their 13 or 14 points every game. . . I don't think Northern can be blanked."

KOWH-FM (94.1 on the dial) will broadcast the game. Air time is 12:15 with Bob McDole and Dick Weiner mikeside.

Bengals Whipped

Omaha used the "bomb" as the key to success to whip tough Idaho State, 26-14, before 5,481 fans at Rosenblatt Stadium Saturday night in the first night game for an Omaha U team in many years.

Rick to the Rescue

The bomb was a 45 yard aerial thrust on third and seven on the OU 43 and Idaho State ahead, 14-13 with 7:34 remaining to play. It took the big play to pull it out and Briscoe was equal to the occasion. Magical Marlin rolled to his right and lofted a float to flanker Rick Davis on the Bengal 13. The diminutive Davis caught it on the run and went out of bounds on the 12.

With the crowd yammering for more, Briscoe sent bulldozing fullback Bill Dodd crashing to the three and first and goal. The rest was a masterpiece as Marlin followed crunching blocks by 250-pound Jimmy Jones and Dodd into the east end zone for the decisive tally. The clock showed 5:59 left as a jubilant George Blankenship toed the ball squarely through the uprights to make it 19-14.

The aroused OU defense held Idaho State on downs and got the ball back again with 2:24 to go. A personal foul shoved the ball to the Bengal 18 where Briscoe used thrusts by Dodd and Little-All-America Gerry Allen to advance to the 10. On fourth and 2, Briscoe zipped a bullet to Jones over the middle and Jim dragged two Bengal defenders into the end zone for the clincher.

Sad Start

It was a fitting climax to a game that saw the Big Sky crew strike first on the fifth play from scrimmage. Smooth George Douglas foxed the Omaha secondary for a 57 yard scoring pass with just four minutes gone in the game. Bengal quarterback Don Neves was on the pitching end.

Omaha moved within 7-6 just before the half ended on a 67 yard sustained drive. Jones leaped into the air on the third and goal from the four to haul in Briscoe's soft toss and OU's first six points of 1965.

Allen got loose early in the third quarter and rambled 33 yards to put OU ahead for the first time at 13-7. Blankenship booted the point.

The Bengals blew the big chance twice before the talented

Douglas, a 195 pounder from Rochester, New York, got loose for 26 yards around OU's left side to make it 14-13.

OU made nothing after taking the kickoff and Idaho State stormed right back for more. With fourth and goal from six inches out, Neves was blasted by Larry Von Tersch and the slippery ball was absorbed on the one by the OU middle.

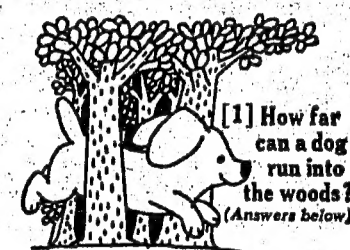

The Big One

That set the stage for Briscoe and Davis to perform their last ditch heroics.

Allen picked up 84 yards in 12 carries and was an All-American all evening. Briscoe must have set some kind of record with 17 out of 21 in the passing department for 201 yards. "The Scrambler" added 37 yards on the ground in a great performance.
